Not sure which course is more suitable for you? Then why not submit applications to both and see what happens?

Consider yourself warned: No matter which course you choose, it is a commitment. A commitment to put the time and effort into it. The courses are not hard to comprehend. But they can become time consuming and for some it may become tedious and you have to learn to love the process and the tediousness of the work if you want to achieve your goals. While 10 minutes a day seems like a trivial amount of time, it can still demand some amount of focus and concentration. As the weeks go by, it may get to 20 minutes a day if some concepts need re-inforcement.
